

Being human in the digital age

A meeting between Media Studies and Computer and Systems Sciences

The Existential Terrains programme at the Department of Media Studies and the Department of Computer Science at Stockholm University arrange a one-day seminar where scholars will present ongoing research, in order to initiate new dialogue across faculties. The first part of this event will be open to the public - we invite students and SU employees to participate in a cross-faculty discussion.

Location: Campus Kista, Borgarfjords 12 (Nod). Room L30.
